Grand Knight's Message

Hello Brother Knights,

Sir Knight Roy Gould passed away on Sunday 28 November and his funeral was held on Friday 10 December. Please keep the Gould family in your prayers. Brother Roy had been with our council for 25 years.

You will see in reading this newsletter that despite the pandemic our Knights have been busy. Also, there is always work done by others behind the scenes. However, everything we do must be done safely. Any Knight who participates in an activity with their Brother Knights must be vaccinated. As Knights we think of the safety of our families and our community. Please observe the Covid safety guidelines over the holidays.

I wish everyone a good Christmas and a Happy New Year. Cherish your family and friends. There are many family members I have not been able to meet since the pandemic started and I am sure it is the same with many of you. I hope we are able to conduct our meetings in person in the coming year. Please pray that this pandemic ends.

Knight Robert Charest, Grand Knight.

Your Prayers are needed

At our November General Council Meeting Knights were asked to pray for the following who are ill or in distress or who has passed away: Prayers were offered for Roy Gould, Amand Bédard, Robert Bryan, Steven Holt, Jan Spencer, Christine Grant, and Larry Kennedy.

Our Seminarian - Jude Thusiar

I was born in North York, at North York General on Sept. 17, 1995. There was just my younger sister and me growing up . We moved around a bunch when I was a kid, so I was all over the GTA, hitting Scarborough, North York, Pickering, and finally Mississauga literally months before I left for Queen's University. I even went to high school downtown at St. Michael's College School! My elementary schools were in Scarborough (St. Boniface) and Pickering (St. Isaac Jogues).

I really like playing sports, all kinds, basketball (probably my primary sport!), baseball, soccer, etc. I was a hurdler on my high school track team (though I probably couldn't do anything like that anymore). I do like reading, watching movies, eating snacks, hanging out with friends, baking, cooking, etc. I played the flute (first picked it up on Gr. 9), and still love to play!

As for my vocation story - my brief vocation story is on the archdiocesan website. Here is the link: <https://romancatholic.kingston.on.ca/vocations> My fellow seminarian filmed and edited the video last year just as a fun side gig at the seminary!

I am a third-degree Knight! I actually was the GK of Council 728 before I left for the seminary

That is all for now! Hope all is well with you all! I would be happy to be involved in activities when I can be!

Council Donation to Clothes For Kids.

On the 25 Nov. the GK (center), presented on behalf of the council, a cheque of $400 to CKWS staff (Bill and Monica) for the organization of Clothes for Kids. CKWS, our local TV station, is the collective arm in Kingston for Clothes for Kids. Clothes for Kids have been Keeping Children in our community warm for over 30 years! The goal is to raise enough funds and community awareness so they can provide brand new snowsuits to local children in need. Our money will go to buying 8 snowsuits. This year the funds raised came mainly from our Gift Card profits. Next year, with our participation in the State Lottery every quarter we hope we will be able to give more. See the add on the lottery further in this issue. It occurs every quarter. There are 5 draws per quarter. At this time, the 50/50 draw on the 31 Dec will be about 27 K to the winner.

Remembrance Day at the Vimy Gate, CFB Kingston

One of the principles of the Knights is Patriotism. We commence all council meetings by singing the national anthem. We even sing for our on-line meetings and even in French sometimes. Our council has 18 or about 23% of our council who are military or retired military members. Pictures by Knight Mike Stenson.

Kingston Celebrates, Remembers, Korean Veterans - Emceed by Knight Justin Yoo

War veterans and members from the Korean embassy were in attendance in Kingston, Ont., Saturday 6 November to pay tribute to veterans of the Korean War. It was the first time people were able to gather in a safe manner since 2019 – the 2020 event was cancelled amid the second wave of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Major Justin Yoo, a Knight of Columbus Council 11886, who organized and emceed the event, shared how important the celebration is. "We had the opportunity to thank the Korean veterans that are from the Kingston area and hold a luncheon for them with a traditional Korean meal. We marked the 70th anniversary of the battle of Kapyong and the 68th anniversary of the end of the Korean War." The veterans were treated to a Korean meal and some VIP speeches.

Brother Justin immigrated to Canada from Republic of Korea when he was a young boy. He is grateful for the opportunities and life that Canada has given him and his children. He is a Royal Military College graduate and is presently attending the year long CF Command and Staff College Course in Toronto.

2022 Rain Barrel Event Planning Commences

The planning of the 2022 Rain Barrel event has commenced. Last year the council was able to raise $2479 for St. Vincent de Paul, $200 for the Wheelchair Foundation and $200 for Canada Missions. It was decided at our last General Council Meeting that for 2022 the proceeds will go equally to Canada Missions and the St. Vincent de Paul Society.

Knight Pete Scott from Council 7676 will organize the event as per last year and council 11886 Knights will provide the manpower for delivery and collection day. Last year we had two on-site sales at the Valu-mart at the Rideau Town Centre. However, in order you get the size and colour what you want, 220, 240 or 1000 litres containers, it is best to order on-line. We will have some barrels on display at the Valu-mart, if permitted, in advance of pick-up days. Please consider rain barrels for purchasing at the end of March when sales com-

St. Vincent de Paul Society Donations

On 10 Nov day, the council's volunteers prepared and served about 200 meals. Brother Robert C. and his wife Joan assisted Brother Mike.

Picture at right, Standing far right is Family Director and Deputy—GK Paul Coulter arrived on the 10 Nov. to present the collection of cash and cheques from Holy Name of Jesus church to the St. Vincent de Paul Society CEO, Judy Fyfe.

That same day, the knights of Holy Family Chapel had completed a delivery of 91 lbs. of food to the society.

The knights of our council had a big impact on our Kingston community that day.

Paul, I am just wondering where the envelope of cash and cheques is in the photo? I think I see it in your coat jacket.(chuckle). Someday we may be able to see smiles again in these newsletter photos.

Message from Father Gilles, Reprinted from Dec 2004 Knight Moves

My dear brother Knights as we approach the coming of Christmas it can seem so familiar that we sometimes wonder whether anything fresh and true can be said about it. Certainly, the last few weeks have led us to expect “the same old”, a few pounds to lose and some unwanted bills to pay, lots of visiting and maybe even attempting to avoid the “odd: relative or two.

Cardinal Avery Dulles reminds us that there is a way to explore its meaning that may seem new to us today, yet is in fact quite traditional, dating back to the Middle Ages and the ancient Fathers of the church.

Modern interpreters often argue about whether a given Scripture passage should be interpreted literally or symbolically. Medieval writers would question the “either/or” approach. They thought a passage could have as many as four “right: interpretations, one literal and three symbolic.

These were: (1) the historical or literal, which is the primary sense on which the others all depend: (2) the prophetic sense when an Old Testament event foreshadows its New Testament fulfillment: (3). The moral or spiritual sense, when events and characters in a story corresponds to elements in our lives: and (4) the eschatological sense, when a sense on

Continuation of Father Gilles

Let's try to recapture the riches of this lost worldview by applying the spiritual sense of the Christmas story to our lives. For that story happens not only once, in history, but also many times in each individual's soul. Christ comes to the word – but He also comes to each of us. Advent happens over and over again.

There are two ways to connecting the historical and the spiritual senses. The Jesuit method, from St. Ignatius' "Spiritual Exercises," tells us to imaginatively place ourselves into the Gospel stories. The older Augustinian method tells us to look for elements of the story in our lives. We shall be using this latter method as we survey the scene in Bethlehem for the next week.

Look at your Nativity set. Around the Christ Child you see four people or groups: Mary, Joseph, the wise men and the shepherds. We are all around the Christ Child, defined by our relationship to HIM: We are all Marys, Josephs, wise men or shepherds, for the sake of this article I would like to look at St Joseph, although we should be able to identify with each one in a different way.

Joseph and The Tower of Obedience.

Being the "strong, silent type," Joseph says little in the Gospels. Yet he does much just by being there and by being himself. Joseph the just; Joseph the worker; Joseph the foster-father, the reliable, the available.

Like most men in most cultures, Joseph speaks by his daily work. In this ordinariness, Christ is present, a man as human and even as ordinary as Joseph, a carpenter.

Like Mary who quietly pondered in her heart (Luke 2:19), Joseph stands there in the manger scene, in silent readiness. That is how Christ comes to him, to Mary, to us.

Thus Joseph, like Mary, shares in the work of redemption. And so do we. That is the ultimate dignity of daily work and obedience. It saves the world.

Christ has invaded Joseph's life most intimately just when it seemed God had abandoned him to tragedy: His beloved Mary was pregnant, but not by him.

Joseph suffers in silence. Noise, fussiness, rebellion, and busyness cover over inner hurts perhaps that's why there is so much of these qualities in our world.

Joseph responds to his crisis both justly and charitably; in him "justice and peace meet together." He resolves to "put Mary away," i.e., to break the solemn engagement rather than live a lie. That is justice. But for Mary's sake, "privately." That is charity.

Then the angel came to him, as he had come to Mary earlier and would come later to the shepherds. Only the gentiles, the wise men from the East, had no angel. But they had the stars to guide them, and they too were God's messengers leading to Christ, as St. Paul says natural reason can do (Rom. 1:19-20).

The angelic message, as usual, begins with "fear not." For the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom, and Joseph was a wise man. But it is not the end. Fear exists to be overcome with love (1 John 4:18).

The angel, God's news broadcaster, announces the good news, the ev-angel-ium: that this apparent tragedy was God's work. God, not man, certified by His angel that this revelation, this Word of God, this Christ, was from God, and not man, from a divine father, not a human one.

Joseph provided for Mary and Jesus: traveled to Bethlehem, sheltered for the birth and later safety in Egypt from murderous Herod. But Joseph could not afford a horse, only a donkey. He could not get a room in the inn, only a cattle stall. He may have thought himself a failure as a provider, as many a man feels today, if he cannot afford to give his family "the best." But he has not failed: he can be "the best." Look how Mary and Jesus turned out under Joseph's providence. But his work was for them, not for him. He was no work addict. He is not always in this carpenter shop; but he is always there for his family.

Even Satan cannot defeat this simple man. Satan inspires Herod to slaughter the innocents, as he inspires our modern Herods to the holocaust of abortion. But Satan fails because Joseph obeys God's angel and provides for his family: two deeds of ordinariness that more powerful against the very forces of hell than anything else in the world. Take away all the Nobel Prize winners and humanity would still survive. But take away obedience to God and loyalty to family, and even with a million Nobel Prize winners, humanity is doomed. And there are precisely the two traditional values most imperiled in our time.

When the threat passes, Joseph takes his family home. Home – that holy word, symbolic of heaven. Homecoming was cruelly delayed but Joseph was patient and did not run ahead of God, whatever the circumstances. Travel to and living in a foreign land were no vacation then; rather, they involved real hardship. But to run ahead of God onto our own path is to run out of the only real safety (however dangerous it appears) into danger (however safe it appears).

If Joseph had been less obedient, Mary and Jesus may not have survived. The gates of hell cannot prevail against the Church, but the same divine Providence which wills that end also wills the means: our faithfulness, our free choice to trust and obey, like Joseph. Joseph appears briefly 12 years later when Jesus is lost and found in the Temple. Surely, he shared Mary's pain of loss and joy of finding, as we do whenever we lose Christ in disobedience and find him in reconciliation. We too find Jesus in the church, where He is even now "going about His Father's business." Unlike Mary, Joseph was a sinner. Mary shared only our pain in losing Christ; Joseph also shared our guilt. No sinner was ever so humanly close to Christ as Joseph was.

Continuation of Father Gilles

The last thing Scripture says about Joseph is that Christ was subject to him and Mary and grew in soul and body (Luke 2:51-52). Obedience is food. Christ grew by obeying. Later He said, "Doing the will of Him who sent me and bringing His work to completion is my food" (John 4:34).

Christ practiced first toward Mary and Joseph the substance of what He preached, the way of obedience, the simple secret of all sanctity, Mary's "fiat," the will's "yes." "Son (of God) though He was. Jesus learned obedience through suffering: Later at Calvary because He had first learned it earlier in Nazareth. The effected fruit was plucked on Cavalry only because it had grown and been nourished under Joseph's and Mary's care. That is what parenting is: spiritual gardening.

Thus Joseph, like Mary, shares in the work of redemption. And so do we. That is the ultimate dignity of daily work and obedience. It saves the world. Our acts of love to God and neighbor can save souls from hell, souls we have never met in this life. (What a merry meeting it would be to encounter them in the next)

Like the angels, we are unseen actors behind the scenes of the play, helping behind the scenes of the play, helping with the stage sets or the lighting, unspectacular but necessary roles in the great drama of salvation. And that is the significance of our daily work (and that of St. Joseph the Worker). It is the sacrament of the ordinary.

When you look at your Nativity set, at this most natural and ordinary thing in the world, a mother and a newborn baby, you are reading a pictorial newspaper headline that announces the most extraordinary event in history; the Maker of Mary was made by Mary; the One who surrounds the stars is surrounded by Mary's womb; the Creator consented to come into His creature because she consented to have Him.

And unto us as well. Every time we consent to His perpetual proposal, every time we make an act of faith, and every time we receive the Eucharist, we redo Mary's fiat and make Christmas happen.

Vestibule Project at Holy Name of Jesus Church

Many knights besides the two mentioned above were involved in this project including Brothers Mike Stenson, Pat Stenson, Steve Coombs. Phil Henderson, Pete Scott and Father Wes.

Many parishioners and others have commented on the beautiful job they have done.

While doing the project two additional leaks were found. It is expected the vestibule will remain dry for now on (touch wood).

Volunteers for Youth activities

The council is hoping to participate in Youth Activities in three schools in the coming year, 2022. We normally go into the schools for a half day to complete one of three Youth Activities which are the Soccer Challenge, Basketball Free Throw and the Hockey Challenge (for ages 12 and up). The Soccer Challenge is normally conducted in September and it was cancelled due to not being permitted to enter the schools. However, for these youth activities every one must meet certain requirements.

Every Knight who is not the Family or Community Director must complete a background check thru CPIC (Canadian Police Information Centre). CPIC provides Canadian background checks that do not use fingerprints as the search mechanism. Instead, CPIC checks search for any individuals with convictions that match the applicant's name and date of birth. The cost of the check is $35 which the council pays for those who wish to participate in Youth Activities. We are still looking for volunteers for these activities who may participate during the week day. If you wish to do so please advise our Community Director Jim Laudanski or the GK. Keep your receipt from the charge and submit to our FS - Philip Henderson for reimbursement. To complete the paperwork you visit the Kingston Police Station or go-online at the Kingston Police Website. This check is valid for 5 years for our State purposes.

The Community and Faith Director must both complete a background check thru Supreme and take a 4-6 hr. course on-line called the Abuse Risk Management Course. Every time we have a youth activity we must have one of these knights holding these positions on-site and no other knight without a CPIC qualification may assist them.
